

Chap 1: Programming Exercise

This program uses Python.

This program will calculate the surface area of one side of a cube, the total surface area, and the volume based on the users input of one edge of the cube.

